Sahar Tahrani:

Kabob Q website. 4 Pages (order) (2nd page take you to detail order page)

The circles in the final arrangement are cohesive & satisfying. I like that you carried this throughout. Map works & navigating back to the home page is a considerate essential.

order button on homepage has black rollover background (most of your links do) body copy size might be too large? Nice link to Google Maps (I should have done that order and catering links in your header directs to same page   for mine!)

The only thing I would suggest is to make the photos in (order page) links.

logo look way better nice job! maybe make the images on order also a link. Over all website functions great nice job! also maybe the logo is only a link on first page

I don't think you need the black hover makes it hard to read the type. An underline or type color change might work better.

I like how well the links work
Hover over menu – maybe try changing font color but not a black background.

Your website looks well done and all of the pages are linked. I would have the hover's text be highlighted instead of having a box. I also really like the layout.

- great job! it might be better if the text was highlighted on hover, rather than having a box around it. love the circles w/o borders!
- The background looks a little too busy to me because it distracts from the images.
- nice use of space

I like how you linked your map to google maps. Good images. You could add "order" button in middle of big image. Great improvement since the last critique though.
